PRESENTS ITS ONLINE SERIES ON

"ARCHITECTS ON ARCHITECTURE"

Each architectural creation has some untold, unseen stories hidden behind it. When we see a building, we seldom know the background narratives- the challenges, the struggles or the concerns, the architect grappled with. It is in the richness of this unseen design process, that the buildings becomes alive and responsive.

In these series of lectures, we endeavour to connect to these intangible narratives, presented by the architects as first person accounts, from their own repertoire of work. It will provide the students, the professional, and the lay person, an unique insight into these stories, so that our understanding about design process is enriched and illuminated.
